

Row over painkiller

A strong painkiller that may be denied to cancer patients under planned NHS cuts has been added to the World Health Organisation's list of essential medicines. Fentanyl is often used to provide relief at the end of a patient's life, and the WHO said that it hoped to increase access to medicines for end-of-life care. NHS England said that the consultation had not yet begun.

Times 7.6.17